CITY OF LOUVAIN IS

Inhabitants, Working Under Direction of Mayor, Repairing Damage Wrought.

By CARL W. ACKERMAN.

LOUVAIN, Belgium, May 11 (by Bail).-Louvain is full of surprises and with pathos. One is surprised to And at least seven-tenths of the city unbouched by the fire which the German army kindled to suppress sniping warhre. One is surprised to see the Hotel de Ville still standing with not a trace of smoke, fire or shell. The beautiful carved statued facade is as white as SHOCK COTTAGE REHOBOTH progress the inhabitants are making in cleaning and rebuilding their ruined eff. Season 1915.

But all this cheerfulness in a city that was thought to be dead is almost covwas thought to be dead is almost covered up by the pathetic faces of the inhabitants whose homes were ruined. I traveled through Louvain today by automobile. I tramped through the center of the city, examined the interior of the cathedral and later role through the city on the train and saw the blocks. the city on the train and saw the blocks and blocks of brick walls, pierced and blackened, but which one day were homes and stores. Louvain is undoubtedly a martyred city.

Thousands Shot By Snipers.

Colonel Burmann, of the German army, who was our guide, was one of the first Germans to enter Louvain. He knows the history of the fighting and fire better than probably any other soldier now in Belgium. No one pities Louvain and its inhabitants more than this big German officer. The fire was start-ed, he said, only as a last desperate effort of the Germans to stop the snip-ping warfare. Thousands of Germans, he declared were shot down as they marched through the city. In the cathe-dral alone he said the Germans found 400 Beigian rifles and many boxes of Today the art treasures of Louvain are Today the art treasures of Louvain at electric packed in the basement of the lectric packed in the basement of the Hotel de Ville. The art world owes the lotel de Ville. The art world owes to a safety of these priceless works to a safety of the safety of these priceless works to a safety of the safe safety of these priceless works to a young German art student who was with the invading army. When this boy, who has studied in Louvain University, who has studied in Louvain University, heard that the city would be set afire, he rushed to the commander, and told him of these valuable treasures. This youth then mapped out the location of the treasures and under his guidance they were removed from the burning territory to the basement.

Cathedral Half Destroyed.

was told that most of the paintings from the cathedral were saved, but as I tramped about in the ruins I counted six large oil paintings on the walls of the church, but entirely unharmed. This cathedral appears to be about half destroyed. On one side the paintings and beautiful black-and white marble altars are untouched. On the other only the bare stone walls remain. The church chimes have fallen from the lof to the cathedral floor and broken into a score of pieces.

But Louvain's ruins are guarded as precious treasures by the inhabitants. The only souvenirs travelers pick up are postcards and the dust on their Should one wish a bird's-eye view of

Should one wish a bird's-eye view of Louvain, imagine a city shaped like a large wheel, with ten spokes running from the axle or center. Picture the cathedral, Hotel de Ville, and Louvain University around the rub. The spokes are city streets, and between are the bourse, and street for Louvain was a series and street for Louvain was a series fo and stores, for Louvain was a city of 40,000 people. Imagine, then, that a fire swept away the houses between three spokes and destroyed everything around the hub except the Hotel de Ville and the cathedral. Then you will

Trying To Rebuild City.

Now stand before the Hotel de Ville and look to the west. Not a house or building is touched by fire or shell. A short distance away read the sign: "Cafe de Wilson." Now turn to the left, and you see more city streets untouched and crowded with inhabitants. Business going on as usual. Nearby you read another sign: "Hotel de American." In a nearby restaurant you will find bread as white as you eat in America, for it's bread made from American wheat which the Belgian relief commission is supply-

Down the street which we travel en route to Brussels you will see workmen piling up bricks from the ruined houses -for the inhabitants, headed by the are trying their best to rebuild

Louvain is full of surprises and filled with pathos. But from what I saw today. I do not believe it is a dead city it will rise some day out of its ruins, for with seven-tenths of the city untouched by fire or shell, with the beautiful Hotel de Ville still standing to inspire the people, it needs only peaceful, normal

MacVeagh's Secretary Is Granted Divorce

CHICAGO, July 15 .- A check for $1,000 torn into bits. A note which read: 'Dear Francis: I am sorry, but what you propose is utterly impossible. Dead things cannot be revived and grow again. Winifred." These formed the reply to a proposal

These formed the reply to a proposal for a reconciliation made to his wife by Francis Winthrop Taylor, former alderman, and secretary to Franklin Maqveagh, when he was President Taft's Secretary of the Treasury.

The torn check and the note were produced today in Judge Foel's court, where Mr. Taylor sued for a divorce on grounds of desertion. The divorce was granted.
